BEAVERS TAKE LEAD IN GAME'S 2ND HALF

Football, From Page 20

had marched down the field with Saul DeLeon scoring on a 4-yard screen pass from Sgouros with 1:17 left in the half. Mills kick the left upright but fell in for a successful PAT to give a 19-14 lead for the Beavers, a score which held up at halftime.

Beavers take over in second half

MIT received the kickoff to open the second half and Shawn Stew '98 returned the ball 31 yards to the Beaver 39. From there, MIT moved the ball to the UMass-Boston 5-yard line through the air on plays such as a 25-yard punt return to Redman, an 11-yard hitch pattern to David Estrada '98, and another 15-yard punt return to Redman. From the 5, Chris Brown '96 ran the ball in for the touchdown. An incomplete pass for the two-point conversion left the Engineers down 14-0.

The resulting drive for the Beavers stalled, so they punted with the ball at their own 16. MIT moved the ball to the 40-yard line before Frank Fifo-Alme intercepted a Sgouros pass and returned it 19 yards to the Beaver 33. However, he fumbled the ball, and MIT recovered.

The resulting drive failed on downs at the UMass-Boston 20. After a Mroz 3-yard gain, Moreno connected on a fly pattern to Jon Lloyd Johnson G, a veteran returner, for a 28-yard touchdown with 1:20 left in the half. The resulting drive for the Beavers ended with a 30-yard field goal that put the Beavers up 23-0 at the half. UMass-Boston finally scored on a 4-yard run by Fullinwider with 4:34 to go to cut the score to 23-7.

The Engineers came home strong for the Beavers.

With General Electric:

Dieting and Exercise

Sports

We Help Students See More of Their Cash

Everyone is looking for value. Getting good quality at an affordable price. And that's what we provide at the New England Eye Institute (NEEI). As the primary eyecare facility of the New England College of Optometry, we carry on a century-old tradition of maintaining the cutting edge in eyecare and contact lenses at prices everybody can live with. Every NEEI patient is entitled to our low prices. Current patients already enjoy this benefit in an environment that emphasizes attention to their individual needs. And becoming a patient is easy. Come in for one of the most thorough eye exams you ever had. Our contact lens specialists will evaluate your eyes and current lenses and you'll be able to purchase great replacement lenses at these extremely low prices, which are equal to or less than almost anywhere else. All FDA-approved lenses are available. If your lenses aren't listed, call us.

Men's Ice Hockey

Game Ends in a Tie

Ice Hockey, from Page 20

scored three quick unanswered goals to end the game in a 4-4 decision, with the game-tying goal coming with 1:13 left to play.

The Engineers came home exhausted but satisfied. Simmons led the Engineers from the goal, where he faced over 30 shots.

Lloyd Johnson G, a veteran defenseman for the team, said, "In four years, I've never seen this team so quiet. We may not have the size or the strength, but each player goes out and gives 100 percent each time the steps on the ice."

Johnson, as well as other veteran players co-captain Rob Souza '95, John Black '95, and Gary Quinney '95, played strongly for the Beavers. Quinn felt that the team played well and believes that the team will improve throughout the season.

"Are you OK to drive?"

"What a few beers?"

This space donated by The Tech