Editorial

The Tech received a copy of the following petition being circulated by the Senior House-E�ate Council. The petition contains the following.

A Petition:

We, the undersigned, believe that student groups have been allowed more than a meek protest and input at the very time it would serve those residents living in residence halls on the East side of campus. Further, we believe that the entire MIT community would benefit if we were allowed until Jan. 31 (one week before the term) to revise the housing rules for Senior House and East Campus as undergraduate residence halls, and that this should be extended as well as our own independently considered options.

We request that you take into consideration our objections and that we be given the freedom to evaluate these issues at the outset of the term. This is as well as our own independently considered options.

Letter Writers Misinterpret Card Key Arguments

I am writing to address the concretes of two recent letters in response to my recent argument against card keys (MIT Card Puts Safes at Risk, Nov. 20). Brad J. Bartley (Nov. 22) claims that my only plausible reduction in crime is attributed to the card key. This claim is unfounded.

I would urge the second letter writer, Robert A. Reilink (Nov. 22), to examine the issues more carefully and to present arguments that support your own.
