The action of the Management of the Track Team in suspending five men from the squad is only justly vigorous. The men who by trying for the squad have signified their willingness to undergo the necessary training, must realize that unless conscientiously carried out, such training is useless. The Track Team is not in a position to waste either money or energy in an effort to train men who refuse to do their part, and whose services are therefore of no value. The action of the management will undoubtedly be universally commended as being for the best interests of the Team. If the suspended men will go at once to the Advisory Council and ask to be reinstated they will simply do their duty as true college men.

The officers of the Freshmen Battalion gave the men of C Company, winners of the Prize Drill held last month, a dinner at the Union last Friday evening. Major Carter acted as toastmaster. The speakers were: Major Wheeler, "I am not such a bad fellow after all"; Capt. Almy, "Forgive me"; Lieut. Pope, "Company C had the most men drilling overtime. I did it"; Lieut. Gardner, "I want more drill"; Sergt. Hall, "How I made C Company famous"; Private Barrett, "Me and the Gallery," and Private Allen, "I want to drill once—by mistake." Capts. Allen, Coffin and Gerrish also spoke.

The Technology Track Team will entertain the Amherst Track Team at the Tech Union immediately following the Dual Meet between the two colleges at Tech Field, Saturday, May 13.
