AT THE THEATRES.

Tremont Theatre.

It was a foregone conclusion that Miss Paula Edwardes would in "Princess Beggar" add another huge success to her credit. Miss Edwardes not only finds a most congenial role as the woodcutter's sprightly daughter, but is afforded special opportunity for the display of cleverness which has always characterized her work. Altogether Miss Edwardes' performance proved as unconventional as it was charming throughout, and readily made plain her title to exceptional comic opera high ability. Miss Edwardes' engagement is for two weeks.

Majestic Theatre.

One of the most pronounced successes that has been scored in Boston by any play during recent years has been won at the Majestic Theatre by Charles Frohman's magnificently picturesque and deeply moving production of "Mizpah." This beautiful retelling in footlight fashion of the immortal Scriptural love romance of Queen Esther and King Ahasuerus by that celebrated poetess,

Ella Wheeler Wilcox, in collaboration with Luscombe Searelle, has been emphatically praised by the Boston press in enthusiastic reviews that prove the exceptional scenic beauty and dramatic appeal of this splendid work. The unanimous verdict is that it is a triumphant Biblical drama.

Castle Square Theatre.

"The Secret of Polichinelle" is to have its first stock company performance in Boston next week. Although this play is of French origin, it is, in its American version, as clean and as wholesome as if it had originated among the Puritanical hills of New England. Its success both in Paris and in this country, where it made a successful tour two seasons ago under the management of James K.
Hackett, brought it into deserved prominence, and its appearance at the Castle Square Theatre this week is therefore certain to arouse widespread enthusiasm.

Minnesota Men.—The place of meeting of the Harvard Minnesota Club for this evening has been changed from Westmorly 6 to Russell 2.
