HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

Maxine Elliott's greatest success as a star has been won in "Her Great Match" by Clyde Fitch, and a notable engagement is assured her at the Hollis Street Theatre. It is well remembered what a triumph she won as Jo Sheldon and her admirers will be delighted at having this opportunity to renew pleasant acquaintances. Miss Elliott has just returned from a triumphant engagement extending to the Pacific coast, and in every city "Her Great Match" has been endorsed.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

Everybody likes a dashing comic opera production and that is why "The Grand Mogul" has scored such an unqualified success at the Colonial Theatre. It is one of the biggest hits of the season, and all declare that Frank Pixley and Gustave Luders have united on a delightful comic opera, while Klaw and Erlanger have staged it with that magnificence for which their plays have always been noted. Frank Moulan is just in his element as the star comedian and Maude Lillian Berri makes a dashing prima donna to win the musical honors.

PARK THEATRE.

Hattie Williams has had three weeks of unqualified success with "The Little Cherub" at the Park Theatre and every student in town has been there to laugh over the drolleries of the bright musical comedy. It has repeated here the big hit that it scored in New York at the opening of the season and the Park Theatre is proving far too small to hold all those who wish to enjoy this lovely production. Miss Williams is a new star but she is already a favorite and a notable engagement is assured for "The Little Cherub" in Boston.

NEW CLASSIFICATION OF ROCKS.

At a meeting of the Geological Journal Club held Friday, M. W. Hayward, '06, reviewed a paper on the texture of igneous rocks, by Cross, Pirsson, Iddings, and Washington. The authors present a scheme for classifying rocks with regard to "Crystallinity, Granularity, and Fabric," and propose a number of new technical terms to designate various modifications.

W. T. de Steigner reviewed a paper by M. R. Campbell on certain rock folds in Arkansas. Prof. Jaggar explained a number of difficult points to those present.

Professor William T. Sedgwick presents, in the current number of Science, a deeply interesting article on "The Expansion of Physiology."
