GYMNASTS PERFORM AGAINST NAVY TODAY

Engineer Athletes Compete Against Intercollegiate Champions

The Institute gymnasts start for Annapolis today for their meet with the Navy tomorrow. Although Technology waded through Harvard in a dual meet with a 35-18 score, tomorrow's contest will by no means be an easy one. The Navy has walloped both Penn and Princeton, at least doubling its opponents' scores, and won last year's intercollegiate.

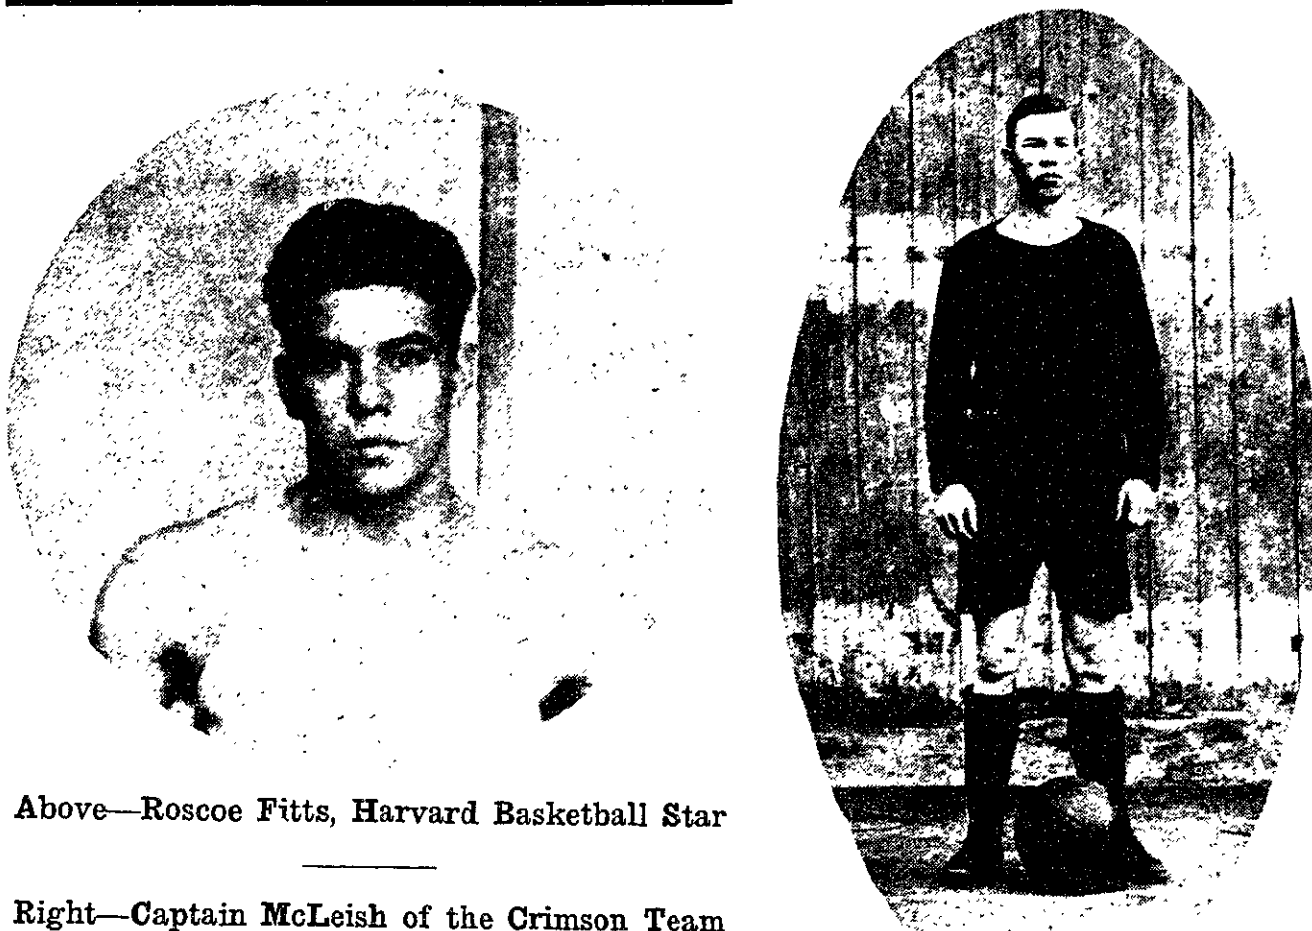

Jack McCoy, who placed second in the H-T meet in the parallel bar event, will be entered with Norm Apollonio for this event at Annapolis. In the rings, however, McCoy captured first place, and so will team with Captain Thompson in this entry. Bailey and Kenyon are the Institute's entries for the horizontal bar, while Keenan and Littlefield will perform with the clubs. The tumbling event will see Spangler and Wood in action for the Beavers, while Littlefield and Bill Vicinus are billed to entertain on the horse.

FRESHMAN WRESTLERS CLASH WITH ANDOVER

The Beaver cub wrestlers are slated for a return meet with the Andover huskies tomorrow at Walker at 8 o'clock. In the previous wrestling meet between the two teams, Andover copped the victory by a 15-13 score but the Institute cubs are out for revenge this trip. T. G. Coyle will officiate for the freshmen in the 115-pound bout, while his team-mate, Charlie, is covering the 145-pound berth. It is impossible to state just who will fill the 125-pound position, as both MacDuff and Harte are out of the game temporarily due to injuries. The winner of the Cohon-Hosch elimination bout will represent the yearlings in the 135-pound battle.

of basketball displayed in the Hemenway gym was plainly inferior to that the Institute quintet has shown in the last few games. Unless it was merely an off night for the Crimson the dope seems to point to Beaver win.

Varsity Works Out Under Difficulties
Coach Allen labored under considerable difficulties in the final practice periods, owing to the other activities which were using the gym Tuesday and Wednesday. Regular work was impossible because the boxing ring for the circus was set up in the middle of the floor, and the coach and Captain Cub had to work out the plays they wanted to run through in very limited space. Yesterday afternoon the quintet seemed full of pep and spirit as though no difficulties could bother them and they are plainly out to give the Crimson aggregation a hot reception.

Starts Same Lineup

The same five men will start for the Engineers as in the recent games. Captain Cub and Stan Cook will cover the defence positions, Bernie Coleman will be in at center, while Tillie Tonon and Ted Storb take a try to keep things busy under the Harvard basket. Dave Davidson, Gyp Blood, Bretting and Boyer will be on hand to relieve any of these five and keep the Crimson on the jump. Coach Allen has trained the Engineers to play long, hard games without letting up and it is to be expected that the Institute will start things without delay when the whistle blows and try to maintain its attack.

Harvard Misses One Veteran

The University quintet will invade Walker tonight minus the services of Lew Gordon, one of the stars of the earlier part of the season but Lowenthal, who has been taking Lew's place at left forward, has become so capable that Lew will have to be in top notch form to regain his old berth when he does return to the game. The game tonight will probably include a battle of rival captains, for while Cub leads the Beaver five from a guard position, Captain McLeish of Harvard plays forward and will lead the attack against Cub's able defence.

The management promises an unusually good dance in the main hall, Walker, after the game tonight, tickets at the same price of 50 cents. Lee Carroll's orchestra will perform.

MILE TEAM RAGES SYRACUSE QUARTET

Captain Chittick's Runners Plan to Turn Tables on Orange

FRESHMEN ALSO RUN

Tomorrow night in Mechanics Building Captain Yard Chittick's quartet will try to revenge themselves on the crack Syracuse relay. This race will be one of the chief features of the K. of C. games and promises to be a thriller. Syracuse won the first meeting with the Engineer team in the Millrose meet by a scant two yards and the times turned in by both aggregations stamped them as two of the fastest on the boards this season. The bad weather this week prevented the Institute representatives from practicing Monday and Thursday, but they were all in good condition and the rest did no harm. The makeup of both teams is unchanged, Jack Poole, Bill Smith, Bill Gurney, Yard Chittick for the Engineers, and Suttner, Woodring, Monie, and Captain Leonard for the visitors.

Fresh Run Crimson Yearlings

The frosh mile quartet, made up of Glen Bateman, Charlie Boardman, Ernie Gardner, and George Leness, will try conclusions with the yearlings from Cambridge. The Institute team feels the loss of its star man, Al Makepeace, who is sick with the mumps, but Gardner, who is taking his place, is doing good work and seems likely to prove a very capable substitute. Gardner's regular distance is the half, however, and he deserves a good deal of credit for shifting over so readily when he was needed.

Three Beavers in Six Hundred

Two varsity and one freshman are entered in the 600-yard event tomorrow. Tommy Gill, Charlie Snow, and Harry Cucillo will compete with several men from B. C. and Georgetown U. Charlie was barely nosed out of a win in the 600 in the Legion games last week and is out for revenge, especially if his opponent of last Saturday, from B. C., is also in the race. Elmer Sanborn is entered in the handicap mile and although some nason is billed to start in the 135-pound bout. Al Prentiss will box in the 145-pound class and Ralph Gow will defend the 160-pound honors for the yearlings.

Little is known of the B. U. team in view of the fact that their lineup has not been received as yet but in all probability Coach Joe Nelson will send a classy bunch of performers. Among the men that boxed last year are Lyons, Cohen, Hartnett, Davidson and Bub Rolde, all capable of clever boxing. James H. Fitzpatrick will act as referee and will also award the medals won in the freshman novice tournament last fall.

Engineers Trim Harvard on Mat by 18-8 Score

Technology wrestlers nipped Harvard for an 18-8 victory at the Hemenway gym Wednesday night, winning two of their bouts by falls and losing two by decision. Cora Livingston, world's champion woman wrestler, was in the audience. Only one bout went to overtime periods, the 175-pound class affair between C. L. Abernethy of Harvard and W. H. Kennett of the Beavers, and resulted in a tie, each man rating two points for his team. Captain George Butler of the Institute and Curtis Nelson of the home team provided the feature bout of the evening in the battle for the 145-pound honors, which Butler finally obtained possession of by a good time advantage.

Off to Flying Start

Bruner was in fine fettle in the 115-pound class. His Harvard opponent had been selected that very afternoon and so, when the Beaver and the Harvard wrestler met for the 115-pound crown, there was no doubt as to the outcome. To eliminate any possible uncertainty, Bruner started the fray off like a whirlwind, throwing his op-
