ENGINEER RIFLEMEN DEFEAT PRINCETON

Technology Marksmen Score Sixth Victory by Seven Point Margin

The Institute rifle team outshot Princeton last week, turning in a score of 493 to the Tigers' 486. This brings the total number of victories up to six. The next match, which is against Worcester, ends Saturday afternoon.

The rifle team has had a very successful season. Out of a total of eight matches fired, only two have been lost. The teams which defeated the Institute marksmen being the ones which took first and second places in last year's intercollegiate matches, namely Norwich and Georgetown Universities.

The intercollegiate championship matches for 1922 are now under way. Some very good scores have been turned in by the Beaver shooters and Joe Lund says he expects to see the team in the front rank at the end of the matches.

The outdoor season will be with us soon, and men will be needed for the team in a short time.

COLUMBIA CALLS CREW MEN

Three hundred undergraduates were present at a monster mass meeting on the Columbia campus, to stimulate interest in the crew. From among this gathering will undoubtedly be chosen the crew which will race Technology on the Harlem next spring. Coach Rice desires additional men for all of the boats, preferably men weighing over 145 pounds, who are reasonably tall. Regular crew practice will begin in the near future.

Technology Crew Scheduled to Meet Navy Boat

VARSITY EIGHT TO RACE WITH MIDDIES

April 29 Date Set for Row with Annapolis—Junior
Crews May Race

FRESHMEN MEET YALE

April 29 has been finally set as the date for the varsity crew race with the Navy at Annapolis. Both colleges have agreed on the date, but the managements have not come together yet on the guarantee. Negotiations are still under way for a junior varsity race on the same day. Nothing definite has been reported on this race, however.

A meet with Yale on May 6 has been added to the freshman schedule. In all probability the junior varsity will take the trip to New Haven and race on the same afternoon. The date is agreeable to both parties but the final arrangements have not yet been completed.

Go on River Soon

With the added facilities for training at the disposal of the crews, Technology should be able to put out several first class eights. The ice, aided by the rain last night, is on the verge of going out and work on the river will start with the first of the third term. Close to a hundred men have been reporting for preliminary training, which has consisted chiefly of roadwork and workouts in the Walker gym.

Many transfers from other colleges will be eligible for varsity competition this year, as well as a host of veterans from last year's eights. The recently purchased boat for the use of the first varsity has been overhauled and will be ready for them when they take the water next term. The old shells that were used last year have been gone over and will be used by the junior varsity and the freshman crews.

The new squad of freshman assistants has been set to work cleaning up the boat house and preparing it for occupation by the men. The rowing machines have been shifted to the top floor and will be used for the instruction of new men.

Tennis Players Get Ready for Spring Opening

Institute tennis practice will commence about the time of the beginning of next term. Some of the old timers who are anxious to report are Roger Carver, Captain Bill Scott, Joe Elliott, and Bill McWane. Carver ranked number two last year and is now looking forward to his most promising season. Captain Bill, formerly of Mercersburg Academy, earned his present position of leadership by last year's splendid record and his ability to win the confidence of those who play with him. Joe Elliott played for a while last year, but his doctor ordered a let up which put him completely out of it. Now he is back as strong as ever and determined to gather some of the laurels which he had to let slip last season. Bill McWane will also be seen on the courts with his usual style of play.

Many Sophomore Candidates

Jack Gardner, captain of last year's freshman team, will bring his former mates Carroll Dunn and Dave Evans. These sophomores show promise of becoming good players and their future development should put them in the race for a place on the Institute varsity team. With these men and possibly one or two transfers from other institutions showing up, Captain Scott is looking ahead to a successful season.

The schedule for this spring calls for every ounce of mettle that the Engineers can possibly muster. With the exception of a date on April 26, which is being held open for Yale, the schedule shows a list of tournaments which will run well into the final week of the last term. Matches have been arranged with Williams College, Harvard, and the University of Southern California.

These teams will be played at Longwood with the exception of Harvard which will come the Institute racquet wielders on the University courts. As Harvard and the University of Southern California made a great showing in the National Intercollegiate last year, the Engineer players are expected to have their hands pretty well occupied.

PLAN CAMPAIGNS FOR TWO BASEBALL TEAMS

Sophomores and Freshmen
Will Both Play Ball
This Spring

MANY '24 VETERANS SIGN

There will be both Sophomore and freshman baseball teams at the Institute this spring. When on the other side of the Charles, Technology was regularly represented on the diamond by four class teams but the custom has been allowed to drop and last year the freshmen nine, and the fraternity and dormitory combinations, were the only Beaver outfits. Plans for a Sophomore ball team have been talked over for some time and every one of the veterans still in school has been signed up.

Both classes figure on starting their campaigns at once, '24 getting the jump by calling for candidates immediately after the examinations. The frosh will report on the first Monday of next term.

Freshman Schedule Announced
The freshman manager has practically completed his schedule and announces the following dates: April 15, Worcester Academy at Worcester; April 22, Andover Academy at Andover; April 26, Wentworth Academy Tech Diamond; April 29, St. Mark's Prep. Gorton; May 6, Tufts freshmen; Tech Diamond; May 20, Brown second, Tech Diamond; May 23, Waltham High, Waltham.

One of the features of the baseball season at Technology will be a series of three games between the Sophomore and freshman tribes. Two of these contests will be played in the middle of the schedule and the deciding conflict is expected to provide a climax at the very end of the spring's play. One thing which the rival teams can be counted on to do is to revive the spirit between the two classes which disappears immediately after Field Day.

The Sophomore schedule will include games with Andover, Tufts freshmen, St. Mark's Academy, Milton Academy and Allen Military School.

Among the '24 veterans who have already shown an anxiety to get things started are: Pitchers—Canfield, Kennett and Blaisdell, Catchers—Seddon and Michelena; Infield—Robinson, Sharkey, Spaulding, Chapin, Parker, Bates, and Fossiel; Outfield—Robertson, Davis, Ferguson and Levi.

TECHNOLOGY'S MILE RELAY TEAM

week's win over Syracuse. Harvard has already been safely accounted for and Yale is not regarded as dangerous over the mile route, as her chief energies have gone into the two-mile combination. The dope, therefore seems to settle second honors upon the Engineer aggregation and in the national championships this is no mean achievement. But "old Doc Dope" is never more unreliable than in a track meet, where such trivial things may cause important upsets. The Institute quartet has at least a good fighting chance for first honors as the margin of its defeat by the Tigers in Baltimore was small. But, on the other hand, they can not let up in the least from their recent stellar performances without being nosed out by either Syracuse or Cornell.

Tom Oxnard shows promise of being one of the mainstays of the Engineer swimming team. Last week he secured a second against Rutgers and a second against the Navy in the back stroke. For a man that is comparatively new to the game this is going some.

Bill Stewart had to beat the intercollegiate Champion when he nosed out Bearce of the Navy in the breast stroke last Saturday. His time was one of the fastest that has been made in the event in the East this season.
